Thats A Lot of Food

In three good long days this week at the Welfare Cannery a total of 10,542 can were processed — if each can were four inches long and this number was placed end-to-end it would run for seven-tenths of a mile or for seven city blocks.

On Wednesday evening, Joan Wagstaff, Marilyn Veen, Dennis Minion, Dick McKean and Stanley Shighiro crammed into Roy Minion's car headed for Magrath to organize the United Church Young Peoples Organization at the home of Rev. Scott.

The evening was spent chatting and films were shown of Banff.

Tea was served by Mrs Scott and hot waffles were enjoyed by all. The amazing thing about the silverware was that it was specially sent from Scotland.

Next week officers will be elected and a corn roast being held by Magrath's Young People in which Raymond is invited to attend.

Mr and Mrs Ross Larson and Mrs Ted Wagstaff have returned from a very interesting holiday that took them to Courd' Alene by way of Kings gate, visiting Missoula and Great Falls during their visit.

Mr and Mrs Larson also visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs Wayne (Lucille) Hills at Camrose during their vacation, and a brother-in-law A. L. R. Davidson of Blairmore reaching that town by way of the Kananaskis Drive which they found absolutely beautiful even though they weren't fortunate enough to have good weather during this drive. However, the snow which fell in the Pass made the pines look like a Christmas Card, and all was green and glistening at the lower level.

Lions See C.N.I.B. Film

The Raymond Lions met on Monday at 7:30 at the Legion Hall with President Murry Holt in charge. A business meeting followed a delicious supper with the main item on the program being a film concerning the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. ## WARNING

"Each year The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is approached by citizens throughout Alberta as to the validity of individuals collecting allegedly on behalf of blind persons, and while the CNIB has no monopoly on funds donated by a willing public, it is imperative that the general public recognize that The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is the only service agency for the blind in this Province. The CNIB is authorized under the Alberta Public Contributions Act, and as such, is the only authorized agency serving blind people in this Province. The public should therefore be cautious when they are approached for donations for blind welfare.

The CNIB campaign is to be conducted during the month of October by volunteer canvassers in villages, towns and cities (other than centres where there is a community chest, in which CNIB participates). These volunteers should be asked by the public to show their CNIB credentials."

In Raymond the Lions Club will again be canvassing for CNIB.

Mr and Mrs Charles Romeril and family motored to Taber on Sunday where they enjoyed a visit with Mr and Mrs Earl Della Greigor.

Air Cadet Notes

Well I'm back again to give you reveals and news of what's happening at Cadets.

Had a wonderful turnout on Monday, September 13 when all got together for a weiner roast. The turnout on Monday, September 20 was not very satisfactory. Maybe a weiner roast should be held every Mon. night. Well that isn't possible, but won't all of you come out even though it means a little bit of drilling and lecture, we have fun, so if you are between the ages of 13 and 18 and looking forward to fun and excitement join us every Monday night at the Junior High School.

The Raymond Music Club held their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs Grace Allen Monday evening with Mrs Dorothy Neilson co-hostess. ## High School Bids Farewell To Two Popular Teachers

—Harker and Miller

We're all aware of the fact that the Raymond High School is minus one of our favorite teachers, since to our despair, Mr Miller is leaving us. Everyone will want to know where he is going — following a direct route to California, through central Oregon we pass the capital of this state, Salem, fifty miles south of Salem, in a farming and lumbering district, we find the city of Corvallis. This, friends is where Mr and Mrs Miller will make their home. They plan to be in Corvallis one or two years, Mr Miller says it all depends — on a lot of things.

In 1952 Mr Miller attended the Oregon State College at Corvallis, Oregon. Two of his brothers graduated with a Doctor's Degree from this same college. Derald will study Industrial Arts in the Faculty of Education at this university. Just think kids, our former teacher will have to suffer like unto his former students — study, study, study! However here's hoping he studies harder than we do.

Mrs Miller, the woman behind the wheel, will work night shift in the hospital in Albany, near Corvallis. Life won't be a bed of roses for her either.

Mr Miller's school starts on Sept 27 and they'll be leaving some time this week. We the students and teachers of the Raymond High School wish them the best of luck and God Speed.

Friday evening, Sept 17 about fifty teachers and friends gathered in the Opera House to honor Mr and Mrs L. L. Harker, who have left the community to reside in Barnwell.

After a delicious supper prepared and served by the M. T. Kings and the Lyman Jacobs, Dean Rolfsen and Paul Redd became Bingo masters. An hour and a half of Bingo was then enjoyed by the group. At the close of the evening's entertainment Mr and Mrs Harker were presented with a parting gift from the staffs of the three Raymond Schools.

Mr Harker has been a member of the Raymond High School Staff for fourteen years. He has diligently served (continued on page four)

Mr and Mrs Henery Piegrass were recently visitors for the week-end in Brooks with Mr and Mrs Manchur. The crops there looked wonderful, but dry weather was needed there as elsewhere in order to harvest.

Mrs Flexhaug was presented with statues of the Blessed Virgin and Sacred Heart as tokens of appreciation for her work in the League. As Mrs Flexhaug is now living in Warner elections were held for the Presidency with Mrs Pavelka being honored by acclamation.

Those present were given remnants, that had been donated, to sew for the bazaar and gifts were presented to three ladies with new babies.

The enjoyable meeting was concluded by the serving of a delicious lunch.

Touring The Town With Amy

We are pleased to announce that Amy Campbell has started writing for the Recorder. At the present time she is writing about the happenings at the High School and also a column of shopping news. We hope the School Column will be of interest to all and we are sure that Amy will be able to tell shoppers about some of the things of interest available at your home-town stores. Any comments or suggestions you may have will be appreciated and may be given either to Amy or Max Hamilton.

Did you know the stores of Raymond can match almost anything found in the large centres?

A novel idea for the home or for gift giving are the imitation Hammel ornaments. Gayly colored floral trinket, parakeets, cardinals, and gold-finchies would set off your cabinet. Also there is the native girl with her grass skirt and tom tom, to catch the eye. All are bright and gay and cost very little.

Do you have to count sheep to fall asleep? Ladies, girls and children, your problem is solved. We discovered some lovely powder blue or pink "Snuggle Down" pajamas. Or perhaps you'd prefer a soft mauve or a dusky rose nightgown. Whatever your choice, you'll sleep like a top if you snuggle down in "Snuggle Downs."

Housewives! Just see what we have here! A utilite household lamp. This ornament lamp is scientifically designed to serve you in three ways:

The Alberta Temple was the scene on Wednesday for the marriage of Jean Marie, daughter of Mr and Mrs L. L. Anderson, to Glen Reece, son of Mr and Mrs Reid Litchfield. President Lloyd Cahoon officiated at the double ring ceremony which was witnessed by close friends and relatives.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor length gown of nylon net over satin, fashioned with a lace jacket featuring a v neckline and long lily point sleeves. Flower girls were neices of the bride, Janet and Phyllis Anderson who wore gowns of green and yellow organdy and carried nosegays of baby mums, while corsage of pink and red roses were worn by Mrs Anderson who chose a navy nylon pucker crepe dress, and Mrs Litchfield who was also attired in a navy frock.

Groomsman was Bob Litchfield, with LeRay Anderson and Ken Milner also in the Receiving Line with the bride party who stood against a back ground of dark and light blue fading into white steamers finished with white wedding bells. Gladioli, asters and dahlias were used abundantly in the decorative scheme.

As the guests arrived at the Stake Recreation Hall that evening they were greeted by Mr and Mrs Rayo Woolf and Mr and Mrs Darwin Oler while Alice Anderson was in charge of the Guest Book. ## Ray Depew Returned As R.A.A.A. Head

Max Heggie replaces Bert Powelson, who will be Honorary President this year, as Vice-President and John Laqua will continue as Secretary-Treasurer.

The financial report, prepared and read by Mr. Laqua, showed the organization to be in good condition with a sizeable bank balance. The Baseball report showed that baseball is almost holding its own financially and if the quality of support was as good as the quality of play it would make money. Basketball's money side was helped to quite an extent last year by the sale of season tickets.

It was reported that Boxing was on the program for last year but due to various difficulties in getting started it was dropped.

The Constitution of the organization was discussed and amended. Last year (Continued on page four)

A neighbor went into her living room one evening recently, and though the room was quite dark, she could make out the figure of her small son sitting on a chair with one arm around his cat.

Noticing that the little boy had a story book open on his knee, she said, "You can't possibly read your book in the dark. I'll put the light on for you."

The little boy replied, "It's all right. My cat can see in the dark, and I'm just turning the pages for him."

Prevention Week - Oct. 3 to 9

One in every five victims is a child under five. What can you do to protect your child from fire?

Plenty, says Fire Chief Bill Hague, and he has this Fire Prevention Week advice for parents:

"Never leave children home alone. They're helpless to escape fire that they themselves often start when left untended.

"By the same token, always keep matches and lighters far out of the reach of youngsters."

According to the records of the National Fire Protection Association, these are two old major causes of

"Watch out for situations where the child fire deaths, the chief says. child's clothing might catch on fire," he also warns.

"In the home, that means not being allowed to play near stoves and furnaces. Outdoors, be wary of bonfires and field fires for this reason.

"For the child's sake, be sure his party costumes and decorations are flame proofed. And no candles, ever; give them a flashlight or electric candle instead for Halloween and other occasions.

"Play it double safe," Chief Hague urges. "Teach your child to do the right thing if his clothes should ever catch on fire; tell him not to run, but to lie down at once and roll over slowly to smother the flames . . . in a rug blanket or coat if available."

Mr and Mrs Ted Meeks had as their guest Friday night, her brother Eddie LaMarr of Calgary.

Check staple lunch box supplies before each shopping trip. Supplies of waxed paper, sandwich bags, paper napkins, seasonings and condiments may run out when you need them most.

Grace Selman spent her first week-end home with her parents Mr and Mrs Lee Selman after enrolling in the School of Nursing at St Michaels Hospital in Lethbridge the end of August.

What would you do . . . what would your family do if fire should strike within the next few seconds? How would you save yourself from painful burns and even death?

It's worth your life to know the right answers, says Raymond's fire chief, Bill Hague. And he passes along this Fire Prevention Week advice from fire:

Get out of the house the minute you discover a fire or smell smoke. Don't fling doors open if you think there's a fire . . . feel them and if they're hot, get out another way or block the doors with furniture or mattresses to keep out smoke and gases.

Remember, the air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled building.

Hold your breath and cover your face if you have to make a dash through smoke or fire.

Don't jump or drop from upper-story windows except as a last resort . . . wait for the firemen.

Don't ever go back into a burning building for any reason . . . smoke and fire gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.

Unless it's a small fire and you're certain you can control it with the extinguisher, don't waste your time or your life by trying to fight a fire . . . get away from it and call the fire department at once . . . they know how to fight it.

Always be ready to use different escape routes from any room in your house . . . important to remember, too, when entering other building.

If you're burned or exposed to fire and smoke, get medical treatment at once . . . seemingly minor burns or smoke inhalation can have serious results.

MAY WE TRUST

Let us be grateful for the day. Let us rejoice in the sunlight—and when it is hidden from us, let us remember that in upper reaches of the air, above our clouded sphere, it fills the heavens.

Many good things continue to come to us. Nature is continually providing us with bounties — while we wake, while we sleep. So let us go to our appointed tasks with cheerful obedience and joyful expectation. If trial and trouble await us, or if in the heat of the day the burden seems too great we may still be comforted in the thought that above all, there is a Supreme Being in whom the world from the beginning, and today, can place its trust. — George Batchelor.

If, in the next few moments, your house should catch fire . . . and one does every 80 seconds . . . chances are somebody was careless with a match or cigarette.

These firebug "somebodies," says Fire Chief Bill Hague can be blamed for one out every three home fires.

They're the folks who unthinkingly toss away lighted cigarettes and matches; they kill themselves smoking in bed and don't give a hoot if their kids play with matches.

But they are only the worst of the six home firebugs who start over 85 percent of our home fires, according to Chief Hague.

Here's how he would grade the other five on the basis of National Fire Protection Association studies of home fire causes:

Booby prize No. 2 goes to the chap who doesn't inspect, clean and repair his heating system and chimney at least once a year . . . and thereby causes one of every four home fires.

No. 3 is the electrical wizard . . . one of every eight homes that burn . . . who dotes on frayed cords, overloaded circuits, misuses appliances and thinks 15-ampere safety fuses are for sissies.

Then there are the two guys . . . more likely gals . . . who, between them, manage to start one of every ten house fires; the kitchen firebug has a greasy stove, leaves unwatched burners going to ignite potholders and other easy burning items piled too near the open flames; her sister is the dilly who quickens fires with kerosene, dry cleans with gasoline and keeps these fiery fluids in her home in nice breakable bottles, leaky cans, etc.

Home firebug No. 6 performs his trick with hot ashes and coals . . . puts them fresh from the stove or furnace into wooden and cardboard containers, or dumps them on the basement floor next to wooden walls, old newspapers and rubbish and thus accounts for one of every 11 home fires.

How do you stop these home firebugs? Chief Hague has this Fire Prevention Week advice:

"One of the best ways is to have your home inspected for fire hazards by experts . . . your firemen. Your fire department can help you spot and correct those unsafe conditions which could cause a fire in your home."

Urging everyone's cooperation in the Raymond Home Fire Inspection Program, the Chief pointed out that the International Association of Fire Chiefs are sponsoring a nation-wide campaign for just such home inspections as the most effective means for cutting the terrible toll of fire deaths among children.

WHY? You can't take it with you I'll agree with a tear; But why can't we have Just a little bit here?

Oh, sweet content . . . how often have I sought you high and low, and found you still in some lone, quiet place.

W. H. Davies
